

Sweaty She Monday (3/30/09):
Ode to Naked Man

By Susan Farago

Weekly Sweaty She postings can be found on "Sweaty She" Facebook

One of my favorite activities is to trail run and we have a terrific greenbelt here in Austin - I'm talking miles and miles of rocks, trees, and "interesting" people. I was so inspired after one particular trail run that I was moved to write an ode. That's right...and ode. So here it is - sending it out to the naked dude I nearly tripped over while running - this one's for you big guy!!

---Ode to Naked Man on Greenbelt Trail---

There was a nude man sunning himself ON the trail

As I ran up, it was very obvious he was not frail

He saw me and quickly "covered"

Exclaiming, "I though I'd be alone!" as his hands hovered

I ran past and thought, "The freaks out here never fail!"